| No.011_2025 | April 26th, 2025 | JaCER Website     | Person affected by human rights violations | JaCER Member Company   | JaCER Member Company                    | Japan         | Harassment             | Within the company/group   | The claimant filed a claim that she/he was interviewed for a job at a JaCER regular member company, but was subjected to an interview conducted by the person in charge that was reminding him of a police interrogation, which caused her/him mental distress.   | JaCER notified the regular member company concerned of the case details. Regarding this case, the company initially explained that it was difficult to conduct an internal investigation because the whistleblower had not consented to the "scope of information disclosure for the investigation" within the framework of the whistleblowing system. In response, JaCER argued that this response was not necessarily sufficient from the perspective of business and human rights and requested improvements. Subsequently, the company attempted to contact the whistleblower but received no response. Furthermore, during regular meetings with the recruitment department, the company was reminded of the issue, and it was reconfirmed that training on human rights considerations—including the content of questions and interview techniques—is being conducted on an ongoing basis for interviewers. Taking all of the above points into comprehensive consideration, it was decided to close this case. | Closed (response completed) | Closed (response completed)         | 4-Jun-25                             | 14-Jan-26    |
